Big Trees Uprooted and Roofs Blown Off Tuesday Evening.

A summer storm of unusual severity is reported by masters of vessels arriving here yesterday to have swept over the river counties of Maryland and Virginia Tuesday evening. The storm was general from Colonial Beach to the mouth of the river, and is reported to have done considerable damage. In St. Mary county along the Wicomico river big trees that have withstood the storms of a hundred years were uprooted, roofs taken off barns and outbuildings, hay stacks blown down and other damage Other sections of the river country had a similar experience. During the storm hail fell in large quantities, badly cutting the growing crops On the river Tuesday night, while Wash ington was sweltering, it became very cold and the cabins of the boats had to be closed up for comfort. The storm said to have been the most severe that has visited the lower river country for a number of years.

TO TEST MARYLAND LAW

WASHINGTON MOTORISTS AR-RESTED AT HYATTSVILLE.

Go Out With Car Lacking State Number and Certificate of Registration-Appeal Taken.

For the purpose of testing the constitutionality of the Maryland automobile law, which went into effect July 1, a party of local motorists submitted to arrest yesterday afternoon at Hyattsville, Md. They were taken into court Choicest flowers and the cleverest artists on the charge of operating an automobile without a license, and without having obtained a certificate of registration. The motorists made the trip in the machine of John Thilman Hendrick of this city. In the party were C. L. Bouve and Jackson H. Ralston, counsel for the National Automobile Association; Holcomb G. Johnson, treasurer of the association, and several newspaper men.

ville Constable Barr stepped up to the car and made inquiries regarding the license number and certificate of regisfrom justice. He is wanted in Hyatts- tration. Neither being displayed, the party was taken before Justice Brooke Hunter, who fined Mr. Hendrick $25 and costs on the charge of operating the machine without a license and $15 and costs for being without a certificate of registration. An appeal was taken, and the constitutionality of the law will be tested in the circuit court in October. The defendants have thirty days in which to file appeal bonds.

Contention of the Motorists.

When the warrants were read Mr. Ralston moved to quash on the ground that the law on which the warrants are based is contrary to the Constitution, in that it constitutes an unlawful and unauthorized attempt on the part of the state of Maryland to regulate commerce between the states, and imposes a American Civic Association Starts direct burden on such commerce and intercourse between citizens of the United States. Further, that the law is uncon-While it may be considered a little early stitutional in that it objects, impedes and by the Constitution to free ingress on passage through and egress from the states of the Union in general, and the state of Maryland in particular, and to passage to and from the National Capital. He also argued that section 137 constitutes an unlawful discrimination

In the event that Justice Hunter is sustained the case will be taken to the court of appeals of Maryland, inasmuch as a federal question has been raised by the motion to quash.
